MULTIPLE CHOICE QUESTIONS

1. According to Limberg et al (2012) ‘the ability to search for, select, critically evaluate and use information for solving problems’ is called?
   a. Information translation
   b. Information literacy
   c. Literacy translation
   d. Information processing

2. Dewey decimal classification (DDC) and the Library of Congress classification are known as?
   a. Call numbers
   b. Indexes
   c. Reference collection
   d. Reserve collection

3. Databases such as the Cumulative Index of Nursing and Allied Health Literature (CINAHL) are best for?
   a. Identifying research proposals
   b. Summarising data
   c. Applying research to practice
   d. Accessing research and practice materials

4. The database, which provides access to reputable clinical, health and biomedical publications, is?
   a. MEDLINE
   b. Cumulative Index of Nursing and Allied Health Literature (CINAHL)
   c. ProQuest Health and Medical Complete
   d. Joanna Briggs Institute

5. Nurses and Midwives are most likely to find recent, comprehensive and easy-to-access research results in:
   a. Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS)
   b. Journal articles
   c. Textbooks
   d. Dictionaries and encyclopedias

6. Articles that have been subjected to critical evaluation by one or more experts are called?
   a. Peer reviewed
   b. Blind reviewed
   c. An external auditor
d. A peer of the researcher

ANSWERS

1. B
2. A
3. D
4. C
5. B
6. A

REFERENCES